A. Background

1. Over the past few decades, Maldives has experienced remarkable rates of economic growth and also achieved major achievements in social indicators such as health and education. However, due to various geographical, environmental and economic factors, Maldives remains highly vulnerable to economic and environmental shocks. The current social protection and safety nets programs in place have evolved over the years to address emerging issues of poverty, vulnerability and economic and social shocks. As part of this, the Government of Maldives is also targeting persons with disabilities as mandated by the Disabilities Act. A cash transfer program to empower and protect persons with disabilities from falling into poverty is currently being implemented by the Government of Maldives. Each beneficiary listed on the disability register is entitled to financial assistance provided for the disabled.
2. Lack of information on the number and state of persons with disabilities is one of the key gaps that exist in the country. There is a dearth of information regarding PWDs in the country. Information on the number of persons with disabilities (PWD) varies. The range of number of PWDs is estimated between 6 % and 8 %. Some of the key disability related issues in Maldives include:
 - a) Information base on number, distribution and state of persons with disabilities
 - b) Systems for early identification and screening of PWDs
 - c) Laying down guidelines and tools for disability certification and determination
 - d) Increase awareness on disability related issues
 - e) Increase accessibility to appropriate services and facilities at the local level
 - f) Standardisation of facilities and services for Persons with Disabilities
 - g) Identification and capacity development of local NGOs
 - h) Increase awareness and utilisation of disability registry and its benefits
3. In recent years, the Government of Maldives has taken several steps specifically to focus on Persons with Disabilities (PWDs). The Disability Act enacted in 2010 has been a key milestone in this regard. As mandated by the Act, a Disability Council has been constituted and provision for cash transfers to PWDs has been introduced. The Act further mandates provision of free education to PWDs as well as formulation of relevant guidelines and standards.

4. As per the mandate of the Disability Act 2010, a Disability Council has been formed in November 2010. It is a seven member Council mandated with the task of implementing the commitments of the Disability Act and work across sectors. The Council has the mandate to promote and support all sectors to be disability friendly including compliance with established norms and standards for services and facility for Persons with Disabilities. The Council mandate also includes advocacy on disability related issues and establishing standards of facilities and services for Persons with Disabilities. The Council being relatively new is faced with many challenges. It currently has no human resource and technical capacity to carry out its functions. Absence of infrastructure and secretariat makes it difficult for the Council to function suitably.
5. There are few NGOs working in the disability sector. Most of the interventions are geographically scattered in small pockets. Most interventions are volunteer based and largely focus on sensitization and awareness generation. There are few organizations focusing on community based rehabilitation of persons with disabilities. Most importantly, there is lack of information at the country level on the number, nature and profile of NGOs working with persons with disabilities.

B. Objective

6. Since June 2011, the National Social Protection Agency (NSPA) has been assigned the task of compilation and management of the registry of persons with disabilities in the country. This agency is also entrusted with the task of administering all social assistance and social security measures in the country. In an effort to streamline the processes of disability registration and providing financial assistance to the PWD's, NSPA is currently reviewing the process and has hired a consultant to explore the potential for a standardized disability determination and certification process. The main task of the disability local consultant is to assist in the rollout of the technical work compiled by the international consultant on disability determination and certification. Managing and facilitating the training of the relevant authorities and liaising with the stakeholders is a key objective of hiring a local consultant.

C. Scope of Services
